BARNETT ITEMS.

[From the Enterprise.]

Miss Mand Nail, who has been in Versailles for several days having her eyes treated by a specialist, returned home today.

James A. Yows has entered in partnership with his brother N. A. Yows, the firm name now being Yows Bros. They began business Wednesday.

A number of young people spent a most delightful time at the home of Miss Gordia Williams one night last week. Ice cream and cake were served.

Married at the residence of C. E. Rastorfer, August 5th, 1906, Mr. J. E. Ranton and Miss Mary A. Piper, Mr. Ranton, the enterprising young barber at Barnett, is an industrious, energetic young man with good business qualifications and an excellent character.

The oldest base ball player in the world, as we believe, is "Uncle" Tom Medlin, first baseman on the second team at High Point. "Uncle" Tom is 74 years old, quick and active, and plays a good game of ball at first base. He has played ball for 60 years, and no one enjoys a game more today than he. He plays with his grandsons and the men that once sat on his knee and listened to his stories of former games that he had played while in his prime. High Point challenges Missouri; yes the United States, to produce another like him.

BUT CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY CURED HIM.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case measles I got caught out in a hard rain and the result settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—Sam. H. Gwin, Concord, Ga. Globe Drug Store, C. D. Hunter, Prop.

REMEDY FOR DIARRHOEA NEVER KNOWN TO FAIL.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I can not say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. JEMISON, Spring Grove, York County, Pa. This remedy is sold by Globe Drug Store, C. D. Hunter, Prop.

The intense itching characteristic of eczema is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Salve. As a cure for skin diseases this salve is unequalled. For sale by Globe Drug Store, C. D. Hunter, Prop.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Delegates From All Precincts Met in Versailles Monday and Nominated a Strong Ticket.

If the Republican hosts were laboring under the impression that there would be friction crop out at the Democratic County Convention in old Morgan all doubts were dispelled Monday afternoon when the delegates assembled in the court house here to place the ticket in the field. There was not an incident transpired which was calculated to give the opposition the least inspiration to claims of friction or discord within the ranks of the Democracy of this county to furnish them campaign food.

The convention assembled at 11 a. m., effected temporary organization by selecting Hon. D. E. Wray temporary chairman and T. P. Bond and C. W. Kavanaugh secretaries. Every precinct in the county was represented with a full delegation, without a single contest recorded.

At 1:30 p. m. the convention assembled as per call, when the temporary organization was made permanent and the proceedings were carried out as smoothly as clock work. The reports of the committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions were received and adopted.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Resolved, That we endorse the Democratic administration from Gov. Woodson down, including the able administration of Gov. Joseph W. Folk.

We further endorse the able statesman, Senator W. J. Stone, and our peerless leader, Dorsey W. Shackelford, and like all loyal Missourians, we endorse the widespread sentiment in favor of that great commoner, William Jennings Bryan, as our National standard bearer in 1908.

We further commend them to the voters of the country for the able stand they have taken for the interest of the people.

We demand an early revision of the tariff along the lines advocated by the Democratic party.

We further resolve and insist that each Democrat attend the polls and do his duty.

After the reports were received and adopted, the convention proceeded to ballot on the candidates in the order they were named for the different offices. The nominations were made by ballot, each delegate being free to vote individually for his own choice of the nominees. In this manner the men chosen on the ticket received the majority without any sore spots being left as a result.

THE $100 GRAFT.

JUST A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

Versailles, Mo., August 5, 1906.—The charge that the editor of the Statesman demanded $100 to support the Republican ticket is not true, but on the other hand Mr. Baker, in his letter to the committee, said that the editorial support of the Statesman of the Republican ticket was not for sale and could not be bought by any man or any party. He said his paper is always ready, anxious and willing to support the ticket, editorially. The claim that the Statesman laid in was for all strictly advertising matter, such as advertising meetings of the central committee, carrying the ticket which is an advertisement and all advertisements of speaking dates, big rallies and so on. It also included a charge for sending out the extra copies of the Statesman during the campaign to non-subscribers which run during campaign years from 200 to 400 copies. That is all there is of it.

I. M. SCHANNEP, Secretary.

H. N. LUTMAN, Chairman.
I. M. SCHANNEP, Secretary.

The above is copied from last week's Versailles Statesman simply because it verifies charges made that the Statesman editor invariably hides behind somebody in his effort to slip out easy when cornered. That his $100 graft was a bold break he now realizes, and he wants the matter covered up and tries to do so by the use of the chairman and secretary of the Republican County Committee. Baker wanted to hold the committee up for $100. To do so he had to have some pretext to work on. Now we will digest the above card.

The claim laid in was for all strictly advertising matter, such as advertising meetings of central committee, carrying the ticket, and all advertisements of speaking dates, big rallies and so on. Now here is where the graft scheme is slipped through, while the "brainy" editor of the Statesman dodges behind the gentlemen allowing their signatures to be attached to the unique card.

In the first place, the central committee of any party always has charge of campaign funds with which to defray the legitimate expenses of their campaign. They order their advertising in accordance with the funds set aside for their uses. Assessments are made and these committees manage this feature.

Every item, except "carrying the ticket," is covered by the funds in the hands of the committee.

The ticket as nominated is not paid matter and is carried through the campaign by every party paper in the country free of charge. There is not an instance on record where the party organ has ever been paid for "carrying the ticket." Being paid for all other work, by the

There is existing with many people a wrong idea of The Keeley Cure—they think it makes one ill for a few days; or it destroys the mind at first or last; or that there are hardships connected with the treatment. In no case is this true. There is a noticeable improvement from the start; the mind strengthens and recovers its normal condition and as the drugs or alcohol is eliminated a healthy condition is builded.
